Synergex Retains Kilmer Lucas for Investor Communications

Mississauga, Ontario, June 6, 2008 - Synergex Corporation (TSX: SYX) ("Synergex" or "the Company"), a leading international provider of integrated logistics and distribution services, announced today that it has retained Kilmer Lucas Inc., an independent provider of outsourced investor relations and corporate communications programs, to assist the Company in growing its financial market presence and in establishing better understanding of the investment opportunity that Synergex represents.

David Aiello, Synergex' President and CEO, commented, "We continue to aggressively build our core Commercial Gateway business through the acquisition of new customers and the expansion of the Company's proven business model into the emerging Latin American markets. At the same time, we are simplifying our business and streamlining our operations in order to maximize profitability. As we move forward with our vision to grow the company, Kilmer Lucas will help us better communicate our progress to a wider investor audience, while providing increased corporate transparency to the general public. We are particularly pleased that Stephen Kilmer will be personally handling our investor relations activities under this new program."

Stephen Kilmer, Managing Partner of Kilmer Lucas, said, "We believe that a great investment story is developing at Synergex and we are excited that the Company has chosen us to help tell it. Through the provision of a full range of investor relations and corporate communications services, our primary goals will be to help Synergex achieve a fair and sustainable market valuation and to enhance the reputation that the Company carries in the minds of analysts, investors and financial media."
